

I forgot to submit this week's report. I am continuing to implement the voting systems and am almost done with the search/filter feature. All that is left is completing the login/create account features, adding the list of UCLA buildings students will be able to report for. These features are intertwined with accounts so progress has slowed due to this. We should still be on schedule to complete the project. Testing needs to be done on the account side, the rest was tested as it was developed.
